

Table 6: Expectations and Results for Biblical and Seth Crucifixion Hypotheses — Target #6

Target Subject: The subject who the authorities presumed to be Jesus when they arrested and killed him

Target Time: During the time of the actual crucifixion

HYPOTHESES	EXPECTATIONS	RESULT
Biblical: Jesus was crucified on a cross	Jesus should be found in a state of great pain and suffering, hanging on a cross	Unsupported
Seth: A mentally deluded person who was not Jesus was crucified	The subject should be experiencing great pain and suffering. He should also be mentally deluded or mentally ill in some manner.	Supported

Target #6: The viewer is to perceive the actual person who authorities identified as Jesus and killed, regardless of the actual historical identity of this person, whatever that may be. The target time is specified below. The viewer is to focus only on the actual person in his actual historical reality, regardless of any culturally accepted historical view or interpretation of this reality, and regardless of any written historical account of this reality. Regardless of any and all popularly accepted views or interpretations, the viewer is to locate this person at the time of his death, which is the time that is now popularly referenced as the "Crucifixion of Jesus," regardless of whether or not the death was by means of crucifixion or any other method. The viewer is to describe the event and the surroundings of this event. The viewer is to enter the mind of this person to perceive the emotions, thoughts, and mindset of this person at the time of this event.